

Winter IN THE Village

Steveston

DECEMBER 1 - 31

Town Square Park at Steveston Museum and Post Office

This was Steveston's first bank but is now Steveston Museum and Post Office. In the early days the post office was essential for people in Steveston to stay in contact with the outside world, especially at Christmas.

Moncton Street

Moncton Street has always been the heart of shopping in Steveston. Many of the stores along the street were once owned by Japanese Canadians and sold all kinds of goods.

Steveston Tram

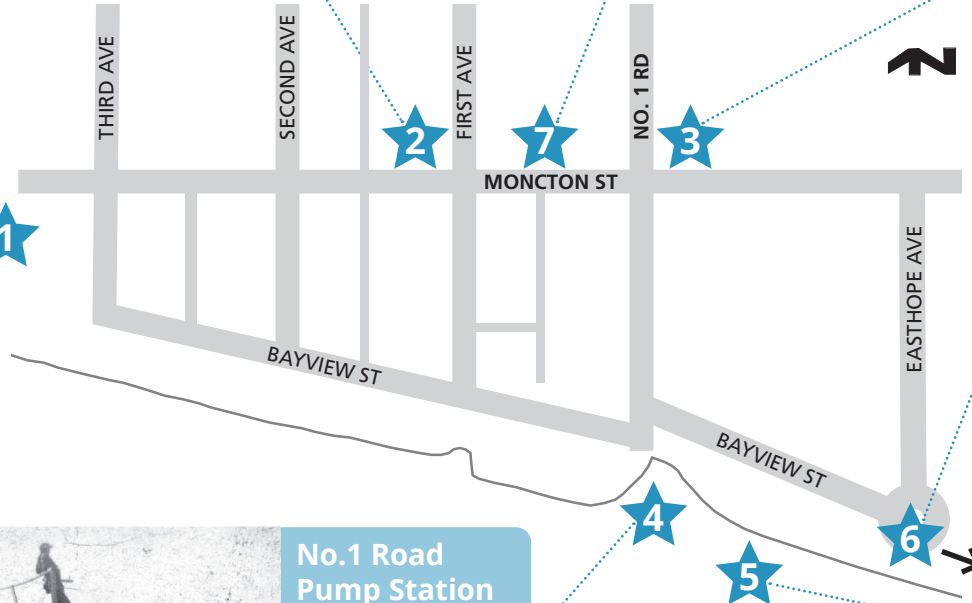

Trams ran from the Steveston station to stops all over the Lower Mainland. During the holidays, many Steveston families rode the trams into Vancouver see the window displays in the downtown department stores.

Holiday Lights

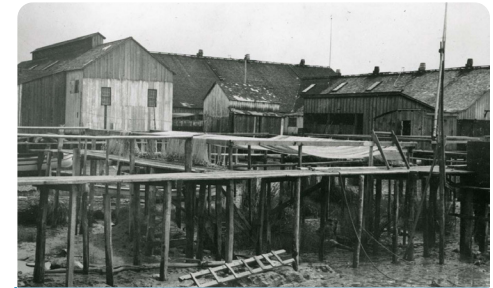

Gulf of Georgia Cannery National Historic Site

This was the once the biggest of the 15 canneries in Steveston, buzzing with activity during the salmon season. In the winter time, the canneries were silent in the snow.

No. 1 Road Pump Station

Richmond is almost on the same level as the river and ocean. It is surrounded by dikes and has 39 pump stations (including this one) keeping us dry.

Britannia Shipyards National Historic Site

People from all over the world lived and worked at Britannia Shipyards. It was where many cannery fishing boats were repaired. The Manager hosted huge Christmas celebrations in their big house at Britannia.

Imperial Cannery

There used to be a huge fish factory here called Imperial Cannery. It was built in 1903 and was one of the biggest in the world! Look up to see the metal outline of the building where it once stood.
