STEVESTON VILLAGE ATTRACTIONS

This quaint fishing village at the mouth of the Fraser River was voted #1 Metro Vancouver neighbourhood out of 192 in 2020. Much of it was declared a heritage zone in 1960, which accounts for the warm, old-timey vibe, and numerous historic sites. But it is also a working fishing village, which makes it a seafood lover's paradise where you can buy fresh seafood right off the wharf or enjoy seafood at the village's many restaurants.

RICHMOND'S FOOD AND DRINK SCENE

Richmond has an abundance of delicious beverages and food from land and sea. As a coastal city, Richmond is known for its fresh ocean fare but revered for its unparalleled wealth of authentic Asian cuisine. Venture to Taiwan, Hong Kong, Singapore, China, Vietnam, Japan, and many others.

Our makers thrive on the balance of inspiring coastal geography and the raw energy that comes from a city with a unique mix of people and cultures. Connect with their passion and talent through delicious beers, delicate chocolates, terroir-driven wines and other specialty goods.

That's only the beginning of what's waiting here for you—come take a bite.

RICHMOND NIGHT MARKET

Asian-inspired Richmond Night Market is the largest in North America. Devour crab meat noodles, BBQ squid, ramen, Japanese poutine, Brazilian pastries, bubble tea, sushi, you name it—with 70 food and 100 retail stalls; you'll be rapt, awestruck, and always very well-fed.

THE DUMPLING TRAIL

Dumplings occupy a special place in many peoples' hearts and bellies. While the Dumpling Trail isn't a literal trail of dumplings, as amazing as that would be, it guides you to 15 eateries that steam, fry and boil up some of the most delectable dumplings this side of the Pacific. Showcased on CNN Travel's 12 of the world's most enticing food and drink trails—come and taste why!
